Subject: RE: Your water sampling data

Sorry for the delay in responding, I just got my computer back today. I am not a technical person, I am the admin. support for the site. I am cc'ing the appropriate personnel for a response to your question.

Thanks.

I was looking at the Dimock Data and some of the TDS data seems very low.
Was there a problem with the analysis

Thanks

Here is your data. If you have questions, please let me know and I will get you answers. If you wish to have a conference call with the technical folks I can arrange that as well.
